GRAND BUCKING EXCELLENT RIDING STRATHMORE STAMPEDE

Strathmore has had the reputation of holding the best snuff town stampede in the world, and that "aint may be," and the seventh annual held on Wednesday, which was presented in the people of the Bow Valley, certainly was not any exception.

The crop situation, which is not as bumper as real worry to the farmer and the local business men, create a doubt in the minds of many regarding the holding of the event this year, fearing that the condition existing would have a very serious effect upon the paid attendance.

These faults were raised in all its business, and with best of intentions and then the stampede organization had to contend with the fellow who lives to a wet blanket upon every honest effort to boost the community.

The outlook was not good, and he was in the almost supreme position of having natural conditions favor him, hence his enthusiasm in predicting failure.

The President, T. E. Wright, who has survived several years in office, assisted by a small band of faithful workers, not only overcame the difficulty of securing new grounds, but also the additional handicap of securing a new manager in the person of Leonard Hill, to take the place of Leslie West, who unfortunately was on the invalid list during a serious attack of rheumatic fever.

Most fortunately, good old Ed Cogrove, whose connection with stampedes, dates back to when Adam was playing marbles was available, not only to supply stock, which is becoming more difficult each year, but Dick has a personal association with the good riders, that, for stampede work, is most valuable.

Cogrove materially assisted by the Van West, Fred Anderson, Dick Newmeyer, Walter Lyons, gave a splendid service at the chute.

The plan of starting the races early and sandwiching the bucking and riding contests in between new hours was a most excellent one, and gave the spectators almost a continuous performance, with very few waits in between the events.

The dance held at night was as popular as ever, and closed almost a perfect day's sport, which was favored with grand weather, and only marred by a couple of accidents, which required the aid of Dr. J. W. Giffen. Lawrence Farge, of Drumheller, who was kicked on the leg by a horse at the corral, and a boy named Haman who was kicked over the heart by one of the bronks.

The prize winners were:
Best dressed Indian—D. McMaster and Joe, Galt Childs.

Best dressed Squaw—Mrs. D. McMaster and Mrs. Bear.

Best equipped chuck wagon—John W. Reed.

1 1/2 mile relay race—1. Donald McMaster; 2. Meat Face.

1/4 mile Ladies race—1. Katherine Martin; 2. Miss Smith.

1/4 mile ride, and run—1. James Groves; 2. L. Kent.

Bucking—1. Frank Sharp; 2. Norman Edge; 3. Leo, Watrin.

Steeple chasing—1. Canada Kid; 2. Frank Sharp.

Chuck Wagon Race—1. Jas. Ross; 2. D. Cogrove.

Barrel racing—1st and 2nd nos. divided between Frank Sharp and Norman Edge.

Winners at Calgary Exhibition

The C.P.R. Supply Farm exhibited a number of Hottelins at the Calgary Exhibition, and was first Bull, two years; second, senior yearling bull; second, junior yearling bull; first, senior bull calf; second and fourth, 1/2 mile free for all—1. K. Martin; 2. H. C. Smith; 3. K. Martin; 4. H. C. Smith; 5. mile pony 14.2 race—1. H. C. Smith; 2. C. Loughhead.

Steeple chase—1. Watson; 2. Watson; 3. Calaghan.

Roman race—1. H. Smith; Best pony—A. Mercer.

Hector McGregor and A. V. McFarland and staff were a busy bunch well into the night.

Miss Katherine Martin and Miss Smith of Chestermere, were two time winners.

Everyone was delighted when the Canada Kid won the steer decorating contest. They admired his courage, even though they doubted his judgment in taking part in the event.

Frank Sharp had a good day, winning the bucking money, $120, and divided the barrel race with Norman Edge.

The Roman Race won by H. I. Smith was a most interesting event. R. H. Anderson and his trusty nag, who were much in evidence at the race, and the boys were pleased to see him looking so well.

W. S. Patterson and his "office on wheels" was the happy success of the reds and the whites. Such is wealth.

Fred Anderson took entire an gathered score cards all day, and then wound up the night, making the show at the box office in the Memorial Hall for the Stampede Dance. Just can't keep Fred from working.

Linder, the Canadian Champion, fell by the wayside, when he tried to corner Strathmore's bucking horse, and Watrin only made a third, which proves that you must be a top notcher to win at Strathmore.

Norman Edge, of Cochrane, put up two swell rides, and became a general favorite with the crowd.

One of the things to mark the stampede, is the lack of interest of many of the cowboys, outside of the money events in which they take part. Their absence from the parade shows lack of cooperation to make the stampede a success. Some plan should be developed to overcome this handicap.

Volter Mercer captured the bridge donated by A. Layzell for the best saddle horse. This is the second bridge that Walter has carried on his back, and is a fine record.

ARCHER'S CHIN IS HERE IS VERY RARE DISEASE

An Incident To Fine Sport of Ya Olden Days of Archery.

TORONTO—One of the rarest diseases in the world has reached Canada. Archer's chin is its common name. For some time it has been noticed in New York. It is usually found on the right cheek and chin. It looks as if a man had scraped off his skin with a hard razor blade.

"Housemaid's knee," a man used to say when he wanted to pretend that he was suffering from some rare and mysterious ailment. Today he can fall back on this even better substitute. All he has to do to mystify his acquaintances is to observe that he has a bad attack of archer's chin.

Cases of archer's chin, as a matter of fact, are now part of an up-to-date doctor's experience in Canada. Other else, a man may be the picture of health, sunburnt and husky. But there on the right point of his chin is the funny red spot which to an expert denotes he has taken to the long bow—that whizzing weapon of the English archers at Crecy that penetrated even armor like a bullet.

"That account of archer's chin in 'New York' is interesting," commented Dr. Harvey Agnew, president of the New York Archery Club, which number at least a dozen men among its members.

"When a person draws the string of a bow, he has to pull it until the knob, or feathered end of the arrow is along the right cheek lightly under the eye as possible. With the string drawn back and pressed along the cheek, it very often scrapes the cheek when it is loosed."

"In fact we have one archer belonging to our club," said Dr. Agnew, "who is always scraped after a shoot. In reality, he has developed a corn on his right cheek, just under the angle of his jaw, and is thinking of applying for a reduced rate when I shaved."

This man is no mean archer: As a

STRATHMORE COUNCIL ACCEPTS GOVERNMENT ROAD PROPOSITION

Tuesday night's meeting of the Strathmore Council was held with Mayor Shrimpton presiding and Council members present.

Secretary T. M. Wears read the minutes of the previous meeting, and upon motion the same were duly confirmed.

The minutes of the raters' meeting in regard to the Fire Dept. equipment was read and he reported that the matter of submitting a by-law to the raters was in hand, but that until the question of the Utility ratemakers at Edmonton was resolved.

Mayor Shrimpton reported the arrangements that had been made with the Provincial Department of Public Works in regard to putting gravel on the main boulevard and continuing same along Third Street, Second Ave., whereby the Provincial Department of Public Works will pay 50% per cent of the cost, and in addition, owing to being able to take advantage of having the work completed while the contractors are on the job with a full equipment, the Mayor considered that Strathmore was very fortunate in being able to do this very necessary work at a minimum cost. The Mayor's viewpoint was endorsed by the members of the Council, and upon motion the proposed contract was accepted.

Mr. George Koch, of the Strathmore Hotel, presented the following petition:

"We, the undersigned ratemakers and business men of the Town of Strathmore do hereby request that the gravelled road through the Town be continued East on Third Street to the Strathmore Hotel corner and North thereon to Second Street.

We are of the opinion that this will obviate considerable business being diverted from the business section on Third Street, particularly of a transient nature, as this section of the Town will be brought in via the Memorial Hall.

Your courteous attention to this petition will be appreciated.

Dated at Strathmore, this 16th day of July, 1929.

Fred J. Dunn, N. White, W. Gray, T. E. H. Peterson, T. S. Hughes, W. Saunders, H. Hambley, J. H. Martin, J. W. Giffen, Thos. E. Wright, Alex. Gray, Alex. Gray Jr., Chilliville (etc.).

Mayor Shrimpton pointed out that the petition was not necessary, as the route which had been approved by the Public Works Department of Edmonton was the same as the petitioners were requesting.

The Mayor reported that Esteva Bros. had offered to pave the streets before the gravel was placed, for the sum of $75, and the Council considered this a very reasonable offer and very necessary in order to obtain the best results.

The Canadian Pacific Railway will be requested not to cross the north of the Town, which has been suggested as a possibility, and would cause a great deal of inconvenience to the farmers coming from the north, and to the local carmen. The Railway will also be asked to improve the condition approaching the track on the road to the golf ground, which is not in good condition.

The arrangement for road work with James Hays has been discontinued.

A tax recovery sale will be held in August, but only represents a few lots, the other properties in arrears having been put in good financial shape.

Applications for restaurant licenses were received from Lloyd Hutchinson, Sam Labin and King Edward Grill, the first two were approved, but that of the King Edward was not in order, and was held over.

Councillor Garrett drew the attention of the Council to the injury to some of the trees on Third Street, and the people are requested to see that they are given protection from those who apparently have no vision in the improvement to the towns appearance through the removal of trees.

Permission was granted to the merchants to keep open after 6 p.m. on Stampede day.

The secretary reported that the Town would be liable for an expense of thirty dollars per month to the Department of Public Works for the care of one local delinquent. Fortunately this will be lessened through the receipt of a rental from the farm property to the extent of about $35 per month.

Current accounts amounting to $75 were passed for payment.

In order that the Mayor might meet his housekeeper promptly at 10 p.m. Councillor Taylor moved the adjournment.

LOUGHRAN DEFENDS TITLE

Tommy Loughran, holder of the world's light heavyweight crown, and the most active of all the champions in defending his laurels, risks the title on Thursday when he boxes the Jersey City slinger, James J. Brad dock, at Yankee Stadium. It is a hard bout for Loughran for Brad dock is the man who broke Pete Latzo's jaw and knocked out "Tuffy" Griffiths and Jimmy Slattery, has built up from 165 pounds, his weight last year, to three over the light heavyweight limit. Both men claim they can make the required 175 pounds without difficulty, but it is doubtful if Loughran can be at his strongest at that point. He weighed 186 in a recent engagement against a heavyweight and appeared to be carrying little excess weight, according to the despatches sent out at that time. It is likely that both Loughran and Brad dock will be cutting weight together as heavyweights before the end of the year. While the bout is a world championship affair in the 175 pounds division, it is even more important in the eyes of many as likely to produce, in the winner, a man who will soon take his place in the front ranks of the contenders for the heavyweight championship which is being fought by Gene Tunney.

SPORT NOTES

"RAZZING" DOES NOT APPEAL TO BRITISH ATHLETES

TORONTO—Canadian baseball does not appeal to the British athlete, and will never be introduced into the British Isles with success, according to members of the Oxford-Cambridge field and track team.

They were taken to see the Montreal Royals and Toronto Maple Leafs play in Montreal. "What do you think of it?" they were asked. "I do not understand it and cannot say that I like it," one member replied. "This habit of yelling at the umpire is something quite foreign to the spirit of British sport. Intimidating the umpire would never be tolerated by the British sporting public."

The members of the team are, however, great admirers of Canada and Canadian athletes. Percy Williams, Jimmy Hall, Ethel Cather and Myrtle Cook appeal to them especially. "They are smarting, we admire them tremendously," was the verdict of a small group as they stood on the wharf shortly after they had landed. The group was composed of such notables as H. S. Townsend, Oxford's famous miler, and G. Wilkinson of Cambridge, who is credited with stepping the hundred in less than ten seconds.

The team is not as entirely English as might be expected of a group chosen to represent the two famous universities. E. R. McGill, of Oxford Intercollegiate pole-vault champion, formerly enrolled at Florida University. R. M. Norton, another ten-second man on "the hundred," was a member of the United States Olympic team in 1924. A. E. Young, Cambridge, is an Australian. There are no former Canadian athletes with the team, although several Canadians, they say, are prominent in athletics in English university sports.

In all there are 22 in the party and the majority will participate in one of the various meets they are to attend. "I think that our visit will forge another link in the chain that binds the mother country to the Dominion," was the greeting given by Evan Hunter, Oxford, and Dr. R. S. Woods, Cambridge, co-managers of the team, to newspapermen who met them at the campsite of the Ascania.

These athletes' from the other side do not like the idea of paid contracts for university teams, or for that matter for any amateur teams. To them it smacks too much of professionalism. In Great Britain, they affirmed, there are no paid coaches at the universities. They thought that it would not be tolerated by the governing bodies. "Sports in our universities," one member of the team stated, "is, I believe from what I have heard about conditions here far more of a sideline than it is in Canada. It is so very distinctly an after-school pastime. We are less interested in winning than you are here, I think. Perhaps it is that we are less interested in any form of success. Certainly everybody else has met from Canada seems to be very so-called."

Lord Burghley, internationally famous athlete, was not with the party. It was explained that he was unable to get away from his duties at home. Questioned about his recent defeats at the hands of a number of the team it was explained that the young peer was a member of the Guards regiment, and that his defeats had come after long hours on the parade grounds, and not when he was in his finest fettle. England has great hopes that at the next Olympic games, he will repeat his Amsterdam victories.

Included in the personnel of the party are many well known figures in international sport. Prominent among these are: C. E. G. Green, Cambridge, who can do a mile in 4.21, and winner of the quarter mile and mile run against Oxford last year; C. E. S. Gordon, high jumper, who represented Britain at the 1928 Olympics; W. E. Sartain, Cambridge, who has done the best jump in England this year, almost twenty-four feet, and D. M. Wilson, Cambridge, two miler, vice-captain of the team, and president of the Cambridge Athletic Club. J. H. Mason, Cambridge, a half miler; J. Pumphrey, Oxford two miler.

Perhaps the most promising athlete in the team is R. M. S. Tisdall, of Cambridge, who has been responsible for Lord Burghley's two defeats, but great things are expected from other members of the group who are less prominent. W. Wentworth, Oxford, is expected to surprise the fans on this side in the half mile event. Leigh-Wood, foremost quarter-miler and member of the British Olympic team of 1928, and I. R. Mann, who is a sound 15 and one-fifth second man on the 120 high hurdles, disengaged many sporting themes. They thought the 1928 Olympic to be held in Los Angeles would be at too great a distance for many leading British athletes.

There is no desire on the part of British university athletes to enter professional sport, was their opinion. They thought the prospects of the British sports at the 1932 Olympics were "dazzling." Track and field interest is growing in the old land. Some of the team thought that the reason old country girls indulge in cross-country running is "to get their pictures in the paper."

"You mustn't believe all that the boys say," warned Dr. R. S. Woods, co-manager a graduate of Oxford, member of the British Olympic council, and a famous shot-putter. "Oxford lads would have you believe that they heartily despise Cambridge men and Cambridge chaps would like to impress you with the story that Oxford never wins a sporting event. But it is all in fun. I have never seen a finer, more congenial lot of team. They are fraternizing wonderfully. Oxford men are wearing Cambridge ties, and Cambridge men have donned Oxford blazers."

when drivers and horses become more accustomed to it. In a field of eight, for instance, after the horses have been warmed up and are ready to start, the starter who is on the track, signals the drivers to line their horses up the reverse way of the track, according to scoring positions. Miller's system is simple, but seems to get its results. In a field of eight, for instance, after the horses have been warmed up and are ready to start, the starter who is on the track, signals the drivers to line their horses up the reverse way of the track, according to scoring positions. When the two lines are properly formed, the starter with a red flag raised, walks both lines to the 70-yd. line, where each line turns on a walk.

If all the horses are in their proper positions, the starter drops the red flag and the race is started. The word "Go" is given at the wire, but there is no recall after the starter has dropped the flag, regardless of breaks or bad acting on the part of any of the starters.

Any starter left at the post must have distance in order to start in the next heat. All heats are timed from the wire.

YANKEES GET NEGOLA

The Yankees have apparently leapt to the other major league clubs in the bidding for Frank Negola, young left-handed pitching star of Holy Cross university. Not for years has there been so much competition for a college star, but Negola has an enviable record. In his first year he won every game he pitched, scoring five shutouts over Georgetown. Brown, Pontiac, Yale and Boston college, throwing one-hit games against the latter two. The Chicago White Sox offered Negola a $20,000 bonus to sign up, and the Philadelphia Athletics were also liberal in their offer. As Jack Barry, a member of Connie Mack's old staff, will inform, is the coach at Holy Cross. It was figured the Athletics would have the inside track, but the Yankees must have gone deep into their money-bags.

SHORE WANTS $17,500

EDMONTON, Alta.—Eddie Shore, the most spectacular player in hockey, is to get $17,500 from Boston next winter, who haven't acceded to his salary demands but will. Shore recently put that amount into a time farm at Duane, and in an interview he stated unless he received $17,500 he wouldn't sign up. Shore knew he will get the money, as he is too great a favorite in Boston for Charlie Adams to let go. The latter, it is stated is ready to meet the demands of his temperamental star, and a new era will be ushered in for hockey stars when the contract is signed.

Shore is the most compelling figure in the game today, and he is a thirty type who is going to make a lot of money out of his agricultural endeavor.

Fred Anderson has a heap of trouble on his mind since the contractors began making the gravel to the highway. "First," said Fred, "you can't sleep in the morning after 9 o'clock, and you can't get to sleep until after 10 p.m. Then another trouble is that the Government is spending large sums of money on highways, and by the time the roads are all in good shape, people will be using aeroplanes, and somebody is surely always taking the joy out of life."

The Ladies' Aid of the United Church will meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. West.

Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson motored from Calgary Sunday to visit at the parental home. Mr. Anderson has been transferred from Red Deer to Lethbridge, for which place he left Monday to look over the new territory. Mrs. Anderson remaining for some time longer in Strathmore.

Miss Audrey Bray spent last week in Calgary, the guest of Miss Ruth Gardner.

Mr. and Mrs. "Bud" Hartel are receiving congratulations upon being presented with a daughter by Dr. J. V. Giffen. Watch us grow.

Strathmore received quite a touch of primitive coloring this week, when the Indians with their squaws, papooses, horses and equipment pitched their tent in the south-western portion of town, lured by the Stampede and day of sports they came, for these are dear to the Red Man's heart. The brilliantly colored shawls and beautiful bead-work of the squaws is ever a source of interest to the white woman.

What the Red Woman thinks of the white woman's gown, she does not say.

Friends of Miss M. Craig will regret to learn of the death of her mother at Cuthbert on Sunday last.

T. E. H. Patterson says that when it comes to picking the ponies that a big six-foot Hindu had them all beaten off the map at Calgary. He sure was a wizard.

Mrs. N. McDonald and son Alan, will spend August visiting friends in Curman and Winnipeg.

Despite the heat, hot winds and just of the past few days, which climatic conditions do not lend themselves to ward stimulating any profound or brilliant mental achievement, never theless, our sluggish brain did rouse from its condition of lethargy sufficient ly to paint a picture of contrast between the present method of transporting the gravel which is being placed on the Government highway and that which would have prevailed a few years previous. With this modern method, from early morning to late evening the buzz buzz of the motor trucks hurrying by gave certain of Strathmore's streets quite a Metropolitan air of business. In a few years ago (not so many) this same gravel would have taken probably ten times as long to be conveyed by horse-drawn wagons. The horses themselves, overheated, panting and lathering under the collar, and the driver weary with the effort, if need be, of making each horse pull his fair share, for some horses are like some people, they will hang back and "let George do it" if he will. So we concluded the progress of the world is making for the comfort of man and beast alike. The highway will be made solid and sure, no mud holes after rain, no deep ruts to guard against, and as a consequence, the temper of the driver shall not be overwrought. A further step in the development of perfection to which mankind is hoping to attain.

The young son of Ben McKinnon left a few days ago and sustained a serious arm fracture. The lad was taken to Calgary Hospital, where he was on the operating table for a couple of hours. He is now getting along nicely, which the friends of the McKinnons will be pleased to learn.

Gay Melvin who retired to Nanaimo for repairs, is once more in the kettle, ready to eat the "Saints' Staff" staff out of house and home. Harry Miner gave him sage advice to follow his example and get to bed early each night.

FORD CAR HOUDAILLE HYDRAULIC SHOCK ABSORBERS

Positive—Smooth—Double Acting—

HOUAILLE Hydraulic Shock Absorbers, four to every Ford car, are entirely defensive in their action since they remain inactive and in neutral position on smooth roads. Late a wheel encounter the slightest depression or bump, however, and they respond with the velvet precision of a cat's paw.

Houdaille Shock Absorbers were not adapted to the Ford car after it was built, but were part of the specifications laid down by the Ford engineers as they planned the car. Therefore, Houdailles, their powerful operation coordinated, became integral parts of the complete chassis. It is for this reason that they function with such perfect efficiency on the Ford car.

Houdailles absorb both the upward and downward thrust of the shock through slowing the spring action by means of a heavy glycerine solution, which is forced through a small valve from one compartment to another. They check the rebound of the car softly, exert no tension on the springs and are always ready to offer resistance to the blow when and as required. In fact, the more severe the shock, the more effectively Houdailles operate.

Different from any other shock absorber, the Houdaille connecting link between the frame and the axle of the car is a steel arm, not just a fabric strip to wear out and be replaced. Adjustable to suit differing road conditions and various loads, the Houdaille is more than a shock absorber and more than a snubber.

Inspect the Ford car carefully part by part. Then know the thrill of driving it. By its performance you will realize the easy riding comfort of an Houdaille equipped Ford.

CROP MANAGEMENT FOR WEED CONTROL

By G. E. DeLong
Assistant Superintendent, Lacombe Experimental Station.

A thorough summerfallow will usually be the most effective method of bringing the most persistent growing perennial weeds under control. When it is necessary to resort to the summerfallow as a weed control measure, it is advisable to adopt some system of rotation of crops, with regular seeding down to grass and legumes at short intervals.

Many farmers feel that they can afford to free their land of weeds by any method which will not give a crop of some kind. While the eradication of perennial weeds such as quack grass, etc., necessitates the use of the fallow, such treatment does not free the land from many annual weeds such as wild oats, mustard, or stink weed, hence it is necessary from an economic standpoint to adopt farming methods that control rather than eradicate such weeds.

Land that is badly polluted with perennial weeds will produce an excellent crop of winter wheat. A lot of these crops act as smother crops for all types of weeds if they get a good start in the fall and do not winter kill.

Barley and oat green feed if handled properly will effectively compete as a crop for our annual weeds on many general lands. Land to be used for these crops should be partially fallowed before seeding. It is usually wise to disc the stubble a week or so before ploughing and thus promote assimilation of weed seeds which matures with the preceding crop and sell or the ground. A succession of such crops and treatments tends to reduce the weed seed content of the soil.

Seeding down to grass and legumes, and cutting the hay crop early will prevent most kinds of weeds from rising, thus decreasing the number of cultivated weeds in the sub-soil from year to year. Alfalfa or sweet clover are the best crops to use for this purpose.

Live stock and particularly sheep are valuable aids in weed control. Live stock are most essential to profitable agriculture on a weed farm as many of the crops which control weeds are not cash crops and can be marketed to best advantage by the live stock route. In addition to this, perennial weeds with a creeping root system such as quack grass can be more easily eradicated if the land is seeded down and left in pasture for a few years until it becomes so bound.

WARNING FOR SEED GROWERS

H. E. Gray of the Leithridge Entomological Laboratory staff, was in town on Friday, and gave the Standard a most interesting story for the alfalfa and sweet clover growers.

Referring to the troubles of last season, he said: Last year many of the seed growers of alfalfa and sweet clover suffered material losses due to the work of the black "worms" which were prevalent on these plants during the latter part of July and August. These were the larvae of the Hertha Caterpillar, and the growers of these crops should be on the watch for them this season.

It is quite probable that the total damage from this pest will not be as great this year as it was last season when many fields were entirely destroyed, but in certain fields the damage this year may be considerable.

The moths which lay the eggs are just appearing and the eggs will be laid within the next two weeks and the young larvae will appear in less than another week. During the first two weeks of their lives the larvae, which are different shades of green at this time, remain on the lower parts of the plant or on the soil during the day and crawl up to feed on the upper part of the plant at night. Due to this habit a field may be rather heavily infested with larvae and yet may escape notice by the owner. As the larvae become more mature they turn black and many of them remain on the top of the plant during the whole of the twenty-four hours. Frequently they are noticed at this time for the first time by the farmer who wonders where they came from so suddenly. They have been present for at least three weeks feeding by night and hiding by day and a careful check up shows that they do considerable damage during this period.

In the period between July 15th and July 25th the farmer should carefully examine his alfalfa and sweet clover seed patches for small green larvae—by looking on the lower parts of the plants and on the ground around the base of the plants. If there is any doubt as to the identity of the "worms" found or if any further information is required send a sample in a tight container to

ENTOMOLOGICAL LABORATORY LETHBRIDGE, ALBERTA.

If the larvae are found to be present in any numbers it will pay to use a poisonous dust to kill them. Use the dust as soon as possible after finding the larvae. If the cutworms are allowed to live for two or three weeks after they appear they will do considerable damage and will require more poison to kill at a later date. The formula for the dust is as follows: 1 pound of Galleum Arsenate or Paris Green; 5 pounds air slaked lime or fine road dust.

The easiest way to put on the material after it has been thoroughly mixed is by means of a horse and pole outfit. Fifteen to twenty pounds of the poisoned dust mixture is placed in each of two jute sacks and each is suspended from a piece of one inch or two inch lumber about six feet long. The pole with a sack at each end is carried crosswise on the saddle with the bags suspended low enough to all but brush the plants. The jetties of the horse walking through the field is enough to jar the dust out on to the plants. Some application of the dust is sufficient. It should be applied on a quiet day and when the plants are dry.

Summary
Examine the crops concerned during July 15th to July 25th looking for small green larvae or "worms". If they are present in any numbers, apply the dust at once as killing the small larvae reduces the damage to a minimum, and the plants are much easier to dust before the plants attain their full height. Check up on the fields now—poison if necessary, this saving crop.

YOUNG CANADIAN INVENTOR LAYS CLAIM TO DISCOVERY OF GASOLINE SUBSTITUTE

TORONTO.—"Eureka" might well be the cry of Jack Star, a recent arrival in Canada, who claims to have discovered a new method of motor combustion which will revolutionize the automotive industry. After years of study and research his dreams of success have come to fruition.

He also claims to have perfected changes in motor construction which, when applied to aeroplanes, will eliminate the danger from transatlantic and long sustained flights.

Jack, who is living in Toronto, was formerly known in Europe as Jacob Staroselski, son of a wealthy family and champion cyclist. He became interested in automotive problems some nine years ago, and since perfecting his formula for a substitute for gasoline has travelled throughout Europe, Asia and North America studying the fields of supply and production of the oil producing industries.

Possessing credentials from notables of various nations, he counts Sir Herbert Samuel, British Commissioner to Palestine, and Mustafa Kemal Pasha, as his patrons. His main concern at present, having completed his chemical and mechanical endeavours, is to attract the interest of the powers that be in motorcars, and especially to convince Henry Ford of the value of his findings.

"It has cost me thousands of dollars and long years of study," he explained, "Rabbi Franklin of Detroit is a friend of mine, and is trying to help me gain attention in that city. I am now working to get enough money to obtain a world patent for my invention. All I can say at the present time is that the products necessary for the chemical success of the combustion medium are found in greatest quantities in the Balkans and that the changes in the motors at present in vogue may be applied to the aeroplane, automobile and motorcycle."

It is Mr. Star's contention that the large flight casualties hitherto experienced were due to the lack of sufficient gasoline supply and the "friction" of motors. "My product is so light and a little bit lasts so long that it will change all this. No longer will the motor have to be reared or heavy gasoline tanks carried."

FIVE MILLION BUSHEL ELEVATOR AT KINGSTON

KINGSTON, Ont.—The proposed new elevator at Kingston will have a capacity of 5,000,000 bushels and will be erected at Little Caranquay Bay. It is to be ready for operation September 1, 1930. The cost will be in the neighborhood of $4,000,000. A sum of money has already been pledged by the Dominion Government for dredging operations, and it is expected work will be started in the course of a few weeks.

Attorney (to woman witness after cross examination): "I hope I have not troubled you with all these questions."

Witness: "Not at all. I have a small boy of six at home."

"I saw your husband at the S. N. Hop chasing after a dancer in a grass skirt."

Mrs. Blank: "Why, the old rake! And I can't get him near a lawnmower at home."

"I can't find my wife," said the visitor at the Calgary Stampede. "Have you seen a good looking brunette in a red dress hanging around the lobby?"

"No," said the bellhop, "but a smart looking blonde just walked through."

"Gosh," said the lonely visitor, "which way did she go?"

Rachel Friend: "And is married life the grand, sweet song you expected it to be?"

New Benedict: "Yes, my wife wants me to refrain from smoking, refrain from card playing, refrain from staying out late at night, refrain from nearly everything else I used to get a kick out of."

"And you were having words with your wife?"

"Not with 'er, your honor, from 'er."

Pat: "Ed, Hector! Money talks ye best, as the said sayin' is."

McGregor: "Ay, but it never gies itself away!"

Husband (sternly, to wife who has been shopping): "What do you want with a new frock?"

Wife (happily): "How thoughtful of you, darling! Of course I'd like a new hat to go with it."

the greater the injury. A great fire, a flood, a devastating cyclone, is not only a calamity to those immediately effected, but it is a universal loss; for the great human family is just so much poorer, the world's progress has been retarded, and our onward march toward the perfect civilization has been checked. Likewise, every stroke of labor that does not go toward making the world better or richer is wasted energy. The man who insists on making shoes, or raising wheat, or digging coal, when he is mentally, physically, and by nature ill-adapted to that calling, is a drone and burden upon society. He is wasting energy and impeding the general progress, because he is doing something which others could do better or quicker, and he is therefore the cause of misplacing two persons in unproductive and unnatural callings.

QUEBEC TORIES CHOOSE NEW PROVINCIAL LEADER

Arthur Sauve, the provincial chairman of the Conservative party in the province of Quebec, has laid down the leadership at the political convention meeting in Quebec City.

Last May the Conservatives started a federal organization in Quebec, with a committee of 15 to run it. This committee in Montreal last week elected the very same day that their leader, Hon. R. B. Bennett desired to learn from the recent meeting in Montreal the particulars of an independent organization which has not been strong supporters of Mr. Bennett. It is even said that this small convention had in the creation of an independent wing of the party with C. H. Calan as leader.

Mr. Bennett, however, is taking no public part in the provincial convention, in fact, was not consulted with respect to it.

Sauve's resignation has been in the hands of the party leaders for two years. The situation is analogous to that which followed the inability of Mr. Hon. Arthur Meighen to carry the Dominion in the federal arena. Mr. Meighen resigned and a convention was called at Winnipeg which elected Hon. R. B. Bennett.

Mr. Sauve considered his retirement in order because he had been unable to lead the party to victory or to disturb in any way the reign of Hon. A. Taschereau and his Liberals.

Calan, however, who was the main campaign on his brow, is the new leader. He has a dynamic personality and makes a good popular speech.

Maurice Duplessis, Conservative provincial member for Three Rivers, was the first choice of those who do not view the "Old House."

LIBERAL RETRACK MAY BE DISGUISED BLESSINGS

There is no evidence that the party withdrawal of public support from the administration of Premier J. J. G. Gardiner at the recent Saskatchewan elections was because of any lack of faith on the part of himself or his colleagues. On the contrary during his comparatively short period of office there was every evidence of increased activity and a determination to continue the work of improvement as became a government holding the principles of Liberalism.

It is in the nature of democracy that there must be changes of policy and administration. Continuous rule by one party, as by one dynasty, would be autocracy, not democracy. The longer a government has lived the more effective is the argument for change.

After 24 years of Liberal rule in Saskatchewan the fact that Premier Gardiner has been endorsed by the largest legislative body and has received with a very few votes an absolute majority of the House of Commons in fact is regarded by his friends at home as a "moral" victory.

It is a notable fact that, although the campaign was fought with bitterness by the parties opposing the government, specific allegations of impropriety conducted by any member of the government were altogether lacking.

To Call for Showdown

While Premier Gardiner has not the pledged support of a majority of the new legislature, neither is there an actual majority for the Conservatives, who form their chief opposition group and who are led by J. T. M. Anderson, a westerner born in Fairbank, a suburb of Toronto.

While Liberals and Conservatives are practically a tie, with two elections still to be held, eight members were elected in opposition to both the Conservatives and Liberals, five to Proport of nearly half the House—enough to insure that nothing will be "put over" by the union of Progressive and Conservative without the electors being made fully aware of the facts.

No Cause for Regrets
If Premier Gardiner finds himself and party in opposition for a time there may be cause for regret to the province, but not to himself or to those with whom he is associated. After 24 years the term of administration by the Liberal party of provincial affairs was necessarily drawing to a close, without discredit to the party or blame to himself. Although not in office—assuming that the combination against him holds together—he has a measure of support that will enable him to hold in check other reactionaries or contrary policies or administration by his hybrid opponents.

A period in opposition gives a political leader or party breathing space and an opportunity to reassess the line of vision more accurately to the requirements of the present and to the future of the province. It is a necessary concern itself with the retention of its position. The slogan of "unity first" is said to have wrecked the Baldwin government.

A party constituting a strong opposition, with a capable progressive and energetic leader, such as Premier Gardiner, is better positioned to initiate measures of better of the times than any government, and therefore to give effect to such measures on attaining office.

Premier Gardiner deserves a fuller endorsement by the electors of Saskatchewan than he received. But the support that he did receive on the issues that were raised establishes his position as an important and vital force in the political affairs of Canada. Facing the longer view, he has no reason to regret the result.

KING GEORGE HELPING IMPROVE SHEEP INDUSTRY

Sheep bred by His Majesty King George, on his Sandringham estate in Norfolk, are to travel to Canada for the advancement of the sheep industry in the Dominion. Mr. C. C. Whitby Griffiths, a director of the Canadian Sheep Breeders' Association, with his brother operates one of the largest sheep ranches in British Columbia, has purchased five head from the famous Sandringham flock which was established many years ago by the late King Edward, when Prince of Wales.

WHAT ABOUT THE WHEAT MARKET

TORONTO—The public are commencing to come into the market and offices of brokers which have been almost deserted in recent months are being thronged with customers. The rapid has been the advance that public participation is still decidedly limited in comparison with that during previous hot market. Few people are hardy enough to sell wheat short in view of present conditions. As is usual in an advancing market, few were able to buy without putting prices up still further was profit taking on the part of satisfied holders. A level of $1.50 for wheat does not represent any very high price in comparison with pre-war levels, and the changing value of the dollar, and real world security, if it later develops, might be reflected in prices still higher than those now prevailing. Our own weather has been the strongest market factor in the recent advance. From now on conditions in other parts of the world must be taken into account in calculating market probabilities.

Constituency Association will be held in the Town Hall at 10 a.m. on July 20th and 21st, beginning at 10 a.m. The annual dues of the Association have now been fixed at fifty cents per member. At the feast when the treaty was signed Missahay "extolled the manner in which the Indians had been treated by the government, advised the young men to listen well to what the white man had to say, and to follow their advice and not exalt their own opinions above those of men who know the world and brought them such benefits."

At Osnaburg Chief Moonias was cautious. Ever since he was very young, he said, he had never been given something for nothing, and he always had to pay for everything he got. If it is only a piece of pipe. Another Indian called Yemo made an excited speech. He wanted cattle and implements, seed grain and tools also. Yemo acquired his name from his knowledge of English which comprised a vocabulary of "Yes" and "No."

At Fort Albany when the 1905 treaty was signed the Indians feasted and presented the commission with an address which in Cree syllabic which translated read:

"From our hearts we thank thee, O Great Chief, for thou hast pitied us and given us temporal help. We are very poor and weak. He (the Great Chief) has taken us over here, in our own country through thy (his service)."

"Therefore from our hearts we thank thee, very much, and pray for thee to Our Father in Heaven. Thou has helped us in our poverty."

TORONTO, Ont.—Nearly all food products at the Royal York Hotel will be Canadian—live lobsters from the Maritime, salmon from the Saguenay, maple syrup from Quebec and Ontario, and so forth. In fact, the various dining rooms of the Royal York are considered by some judges as the best standing advertisement for Canadian food products. Such delicacies as Roast Beef, Russian Caviar, woodcock, snipe and imported game, citrus and other tropical fruit though present on the menu represent only a very small part of the whole.
